Aims of the SUSI intervention:

- to promote the social–emotional development of children
- to support the parent-child relationship
- To help parents to support and build secure emotional foundations and selfconfidence in their child.
- 2. For parents to support their child to be a positive and active communicator of their thoughts and feelings (as the basis for social relationships and interactions as they grow).
- 3. For parents to help their child to develop appropriate skills and independence that are in line with their age and developmental levels.
- 4. To support the development of the child's emotional regulation and positive coping strategies.